Company: Avature

Location: Rosario

Category: computer-and-mathematical

We're looking for Backend Software Engineers who will work in small development teams that act like mini software companies, balancing refactoring and new feature development, defining and presenting road maps quarterly, and fully participating in the fundamental aspects of the commercial software business, from maintainability and usability to competitive positioning.

Your challenges and objectives:

Achieve a rounded knowledge of our platform by understanding the complex interaction of a wide range of areas and services, from network layer to final user.

Develop sophisticated products with high-availability, performance, and concurrency in mind.

Keep a global view of our models and systems to identify opportunities for improvement and anticipate future challenges.

Promote and apply best practices during the entire development process, from the very early stages of technical analysis and design of solutions, to monitoring in production.

Your day-to-day activities:

Develop and implement our tools and systems.

Look into specific techniques and research to determine if they could be used by our team.

Participate in and propose team discussions.

Do technical analysis of existing code and perform refactors to improve code quality.

Perform code review.

Detect and fix problems in production environment.

Contribute to the best practices of development, reliability, and availability of our systems.

About you:

Senior software developer, focused on backend.

Excellent analytical/troubleshooting skills.

Expertise in data structures, algorithms, and complexity analysis.

Fluent in Java or PHP.

Previous DevOps experience is a plus

Python is a plus.

Great initiative and capacity to take on projects autonomously.

About us:
