Delivery Manager - Technology Governance

Apply Now

Company: JPMorgan Chase & Co.

Location: Buenos Aires

Category: business-and-financial-operations

As an experienced professional in Project Execution, you thrive at managing complex technology programs that have far-reaching implications for clients, employees, and stakeholders throughout the firm. This role requires a strong grasp of the big-picture – namely, how can technology help achieve business goals – as well as a keen ability to establish priorities, manage resources and budgets, and build and incentivize high-performing teams. You'll work closely with colleagues across the firm to identify opportunities to develop projects and programs that are broadly applicable. Once you and your team establish a roadmap, you'll play an integral role in ensuring that the project is running on time, within budget, and in accordance with firm-wide guidelines, including risk and architecture. Just as importantly, you'll work with your team to set goals, foster collaboration, and promote the values, culture, and brand of JPMorgan Chase & Co.

This role requires a wide range of strengths and capabilities, including:

BS/BA degree or equivalent experience

Expert knowledge in all business processes across an entire line of business, as well expertise in other lines of business and technology disciplines

Understanding of global and line of business project and program management standards and methods

Experience working with high-performing teams in complex program execution

Strong understanding of Waterfall and Agile methods; stakeholder management; budget management, risk management and operations

Ability to create and maintain relationships with a wide range of stakeholders throughout the firm
